

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to novel methods and compositions for the detection of analytes using the nuclear reorganization energy, λ , of an electron transfer process.

Pub. No. 2002/013662